

Friday Night - 18th

Dear Jimmie -

Tomorrow we will take the train to Amsterdam and our plane for Stockholm leaves Amsterdam about 8 o'clock that night so we will have time to go on some tours. Daddy was there Tuesday and went on a tour of the harbor so we are going again on that tour tomorrow. I hate to leave Rotterdam. Every thing is so different.

I did get back from Belgium and can't wait to tell you about it. If I hadn't had my French Berlin book along I could still be there. I got on the wrong train to return to Rotterdam and was on my way to Luxembourg. I was sent off at a little station in Belgium and locked up in a room for an hour. Then I was put on a train that brought me back to Brussels. Then I had to speak only French. I arrived back here and daddy was wondering if he should report me missing when I reached in several hours late. I hurried and changed clothes and we went to the dinner party. At the dinner we all had to stand up and toast the queen.

Last night (Thurs. night) we had a gourmet dinner at a bistro in a place which was recommended in our book. A violinist even came over to our table and played a song for me. The "Red Dutch Restaurant" is the name of the restaurant.

More later.

Love,
Moms
